I am 26 year old sales person. I have experience in managing my own company of unique design wood furniture. My mother tongue is Lithuanian and I fluently speak, read and write in English. I am able to handle negotiations. I am interested in sales/export manager or middle management position. I learn fast, so I can adapt to any kind of product that I have to sell in a short period of time.

I have worked during my years in University, so I was focused on short term projects to increase sales in different companies of unrelated fields. I have seen different profiles of companies and clients, had a lot of meetings to negotiate best terms for both sides.

I worked for companies concentrating on B2B business and providing their products and services to export, as well as local market. After all these projects I started my own business of natural wood furniture and other products. It was a successful business in terms of profit, however, I want to keep it as a hobby for my freetime only. For now, my business has no more commitments for customers or suppliers and I am ready to start working at any time.

I am interested in working for an international company or a local one that concentrates on export and high value products or services. I am really strong in the search of new customers and first deals with them. I always concentrate on the leaders. There is nothing better than a leader as a client.
