A passionate skilled professional within the pharmaceutical industry with proven abilities to assess and manage difficult situations with clients as well as analyse given data to improve decision making capability. Excellent client management skills combined with Master's degree in Biomechanics and Bachelor's degree in Industrial Engineering acquired in Vilnius Gediminas technical University creates a diverse skill set which is flexible and adaptive. My objective is to obtain a position within a reputable organisation where I can take on new challenges around data analysis and processing, gain knowledge and use my acquired experience to benefit the organisation in moving forward in the rapidly changing hi-tech market.
